Kinsterna Hotel awarded Two Michelin Keys for the second consecutive year

Monemvasia, Greece | October 2026

For the second consecutive year, Kinsterna Hotel has been awarded Two MICHELIN Keys in the 2026 MICHELIN Guide hotel selection, placing it among just nine hotels in Greece to receive this distinction.

The MICHELIN Keys are the Guide's recognition of outstanding hotels, much as MICHELIN Stars recognise culinary excellence in restaurants. The assessment considers the overall guest experience, from architecture and design to a hotel's connection with its surroundings, the quality of hospitality and service, authenticity, and the distinctive character of each property.

For Kinsterna, this recognition holds special meaning. It celebrates a place where the history of a Byzantine mansion remains closely connected to the everyday life of a working estate. Vineyards, olive groves, orchards and gardens continue to be cultivated, with fresh produce making its way into the kitchen each day. Traditional activities, such as the grape harvest and breadmaking, remain part of estate life, inviting guests to discover practices that have been passed down through generations.

Behind it all are the people of Kinsterna. The hotel team, alongside local producers and partners, works every day to ensure that the hospitality guests experience remains closely connected to Monemvasia and the wider Laconia region. This recognition offers an opportunity to acknowledge everyone involved in this shared effort and encourages us to continue with the same care and dedication. It also brings welcome attention to Laconia, a region known for its rich history, agricultural heritage and living traditions.

We extend our sincere thanks to the MICHELIN Guide for this distinction and, above all, to our guests for the trust they continue to place in Kinsterna year after year.

Kinsterna Hotel will welcome guests for the new season from 2 April 2027, with reservations already open for those planning their next visit to Monemvasia.
